Appendix A: Scope of Work

PURPOSE

The purpose of this request for proposal (RFP) is to find and select a qualified consultant to develop and complete a Development Impact Fee (DIF) Nexus Study, recommend updates to the County's DIF program, and prepare a Residential Feasibility Analysis in compliance with the Mitigation Fee Act (California Government Code Section 66000 et seq.) and Assembly Bill 602 (2021). The County is now seeking the services of a qualified firm to update the streets, drainage, and parks impact fees.

BACKGROUND

For the past several decades unincorporated Marin County has experienced very little new development. With adoption of the 2023-2031 Housing Element the County projects the addition of over 5,000 new housing units within this planning period, which will require new or expanded public infrastructure to serve this added population and to maintain at least current levels of service for the community.

The County assesses, or may assess, various development impact fees on new development and redevelopment to help pay for County infrastructure and facilities that the new development will require. The County currently imposes four DIFs:

1. Transportation Impact Fee (for road and transportation improvements needed due to traffic generated by new development)
2. Roadway Impact Fee (for roadway resurfacing, charged as a percentage of new construction valuation through building permits)
3. Affordable Housing Fee (for development of affordable housing, charged to new single-family homes and major remodels)
4. Commercial Linkage Fee (for development of affordable housing, charged to new non-residential development on a square foot basis)
5. Parkland Dedication In-Lieu Fee (Quimby Act fee in-lieu of land dedication for park expansion and improvements)

SCOPE OF SERVICES

1. Review and identify infrastructure and facilities needs: The consultant will work with County staff to evaluate and identify infrastructure and facility needs that may be included in an updated fee program, ensuring that the DIF program accurately aligns fees with the costs associated with new development. Specifically, the County seeks to:

- a. Update the current Traffic Impact Mitigation Fee (TIMF) to reflect increased development potential and examine the updated traffic model, making any necessary additions and revisions to fund associated transportation related improvements including vehicle, bicycle, transit, and pedestrian facilities. The consultant will also prepare cost estimates for necessary transportation improvements, allocate transportation improvement costs proportional to new development's impact, and revise and/or expand the TIMF areas of benefit for subregional transportation improvements to incorporate the full County,
- b. Consider amendment of the current Parkland Dedication In-Lieu Fee to incorporate park improvement costs, and
- c. Consider any other DIFs the consultant commonly develops for clients or DIF categories that other nearby cities and comparable counties impose.

2. Review and assess applicable County documents: The County recognizes the Nexus Study and Residential Feasibility Analysis will include review of existing documents and plans, as well as additional research and collaboration necessary to identify infrastructure projects and needs. The County envisions, at minimum, the following components included in the review:

- a. AB 1600 reports completed annually
- b. 5-Year Capital Improvement Program
- c. Countywide Plan 2023
- d. FY 2023-2031 Housing Element and EIR
- e. Bicycle and Pedestrian Master Plan (2018)
- f. Parks and Open Space Strategic Plan (2008)
- g. Individual Master Plans for four regional County parks
- h. One TAM Strategic Plan (2024-2028)
- i. Other documents as appropriate

It is important to note that the strategic plans listed above generally do not include detailed capital improvement plans and that the current County CIP does not reflect the updated County traffic model and anticipated level of development.

3. Conduct Needs Assessment: Work closely with County staff to determine supporting infrastructure and facility needs related to County-provided services that could rightfully be included in the DIF program to ensure the costs of such supporting infrastructure and facilities are funded by new development.

4. Review applicable state laws: Review the Mitigation Fee Act, Assembly Bill 602 and other applicable current/pending state laws and how they may impact the County's ability to collect fees. Consider possible limitations or requirements from case law and legislation.

5. Prepare a Nexus Analysis: Prepare a nexus analysis to establish the connection between the impacts from new developments on the proposed public facilities, and the benefits received by new development from the proposed public infrastructure and facilities. Quantify the proportional share of costs attributable to each category of new development project for each category of public infrastructure and facilities, including consideration of assessing costs/benefits by geographic subarea of the County.

6. Document Findings: Provide enough data and the necessary findings, and recommendations to update and implement a comprehensive DIF program. This should include potential new DIF categories and updating or revising the existing TIF and Quimby Act in-lieu fee based on required nexus study findings and the proposed infrastructure and facility requirements to support the growth projections and Capital Improvement Program (CIP) and the County's policy priorities.

7. Develop a Fee Schedule: Develop a fee schedule for each category of development project based on County standards (e.g., residential, commercial, mixed-use). Calculate fees based on the nexus and proportionality analysis with charges based per-square-foot of new development (in accordance with Government Code Sections 66016.5(a)(5) and 66324), or based per-unit (to the extent legally justified and recommended). Recommend means of incorporating annual inflation factors. Compare proposed fees to other cities/towns in Marin and comparable counties in Northern California with similar types of public facilities funded by development impact fees.

8. Best Practices: Evaluate the County's current system of DIF accounting, administration and reporting practices and recommend best practices for improved approaches.

9. External Data Gatherings: Provide information on impact fees or other fees charged by special districts (e.g. schools, community services districts, water districts, sanitary districts) that would also be charged to development projects, by geographic area of the county/special district boundaries, to inform the Residential Feasibility Analysis.

10. Alternative Fee Analysis: Prepare a Residential Feasibility Analysis to determine the financial feasibility of housing being built at the recommended or alternative fee levels.

11. Meetings: The consultant shall include attendance at the following meetings, as a minimum, in their proposal. Should the consultant identify a meeting that they feel is necessary to achieve the results and is beyond the meetings described below, they shall describe them in their proposal. Unless otherwise determined by the County, the consultant shall plan on meetings being held at the Civic Center.

- Kick-off meeting between consultant and County staff to review objectives of study, agree to methodology, exchange information, timing and schedule for all tasks, and to determine information to be provided by County staff.
- Conduct Stakeholder Engagement and Public Outreach by facilitating at least four stakeholder meetings with community and business organizations, developers, construction trades organizations, and housing advocacy groups.
- As requested, provide informational presentations to relevant County commissions.
- Attend and present study results and recommendations in a workshop before the Planning Commission and public hearings before the Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors. For purposes of public hearings, assume a maximum of five hearings.

DELIVERABLES

1. Nexus Study Report: Consultant shall prepare a Nexus Study in accordance with the Mitigation Fee Act and AB602 to document the required bases for the County to impose development impact fees on new development projects. More specifically, consultant shall prepare a report containing, but not limited to, the following:

- Background information;
- A description of the overall methodology;
- Supporting justification and calculations that demonstrate the legal nexus between recommended fees and the impact created by new development, and identify the purpose of the proposed fees;
- Relationship between the fee's use and the type of project on which it would be imposed;
- Purpose of the Fee;

- How the fee would be used;
- Comparison between the proposed fees and those of comparable and nearby jurisdictions; and,
- Any additional matters that County staff should be made aware of.

The Nexus Study shall be prepared as an Administrative Draft for staff review, a Public Review Draft incorporating input from the staff review for publication and public review, and a Final Draft incorporating input from the public review draft.

If the consultant feels that additional tasks are warranted, they must be clearly identified in the consultant's proposal. The County reserves the right to modify the scope of services before the contract is awarded depending on cost and the County's confidence in the selected vendor.

2. Residential Feasibility Analysis: The consultant shall conduct a residential feasibility analysis to determine whether housing can be built feasibly at the recommended or alternative fee levels. The deliverable shall be a report documenting the analytical methods used, assumptions made, conclusions reached, and all supporting documentation. Pro formas should be prepared and included for different housing types, such as single-family, townhouse, and multi-family. All assumptions should be verified through interviews with both market-rate and affordable housing developers. Ideally, this deliverable would be presented as a memorandum and incorporated into the overall final product.

3. Presentation Materials: Consultant shall prepare presentation materials, including visual presentations, for stakeholder meetings, public workshops and public hearings, and a webpage summary of the analyses and recommendations. Materials should include an informational presentation on DIFs and the study that County staff can share broadly with the public.
